Dear Parents and Carers,

We are delighted to share some exciting news!

On Thursday 19th November, we will be welcoming Andy Tooze, a published poet and experienced school workshop leader, to Eastlands Primary School. Andy has worked with children in schools across the country, inspiring young writers through his energetic, interactive and engaging approach to poetry.

Throughout the day, Andy will lead workshops with every year group. His sessions involve a mixture of speaking, listening, reading, writing and drama, helping children to explore poetry in a fun and accessible way. He will share some of his own poems, explain how poets develop ideas and answer children's questions about his work. Most importantly, he will encourage and support pupils to create their own poetry, providing simple tips and techniques to help them become confident writers.

To conclude the day, Andy will lead a whole-school poetry assembly, where children will have the opportunity to share poems they have written during the workshops. These assemblies are a wonderful celebration of creativity and provide an opportunity for pupils to see the wide variety of ideas and techniques explored throughout the day.

We are very excited about this opportunity, which forms part of our ongoing commitment to developing a love of reading, writing and performance poetry across the school.

A special thank you to the Eastlands PSA for generously funding this exciting event. Their support means that every child will be able to take part in the workshops and assembly at no cost to families.

Signed Books

Children will have the opportunity to purchase a signed copy of one of Andy Tooze's poetry books.

If you would like your child to receive a signed copy, please send £5 cash in a named envelope to school by Thursday 19th November.

We are sure this will be a memorable and inspiring day for all of our pupils.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely,

Miss Lisa Doyle
